Mr. Breyer, the President of the A.F. of L. Cloth Examiners' and Spongers' Union, whose policy of systemati betrayat of the interests of the work trade to the interest of the big fellows, has been categorically exposed in these columns, is out with a neatly printed card. The card designates as "soreheads" the former members of his Union who declared their independence from him, have established a bona fide Union in the L W. It should have a half-tone picture of Mr. Breyer himself at its lower right corner: a half-tone picture of Mr. Breyer's lieutenant in his Union, the Volkszeitung Corporation stockholder Adolf Lowenthal, at the lower left corner; and, at the top of the card, a half-tone picture of Belmont, the President of the Civic Federation, holding in his hand two strings, one tied to Mr. Breyer's right leg, the other to Mr. Lowenthal's left leg. The strings would have to cross bottom, towards the right bottom and the left bottom. But that would not interfere with the lettering or its understanding. On the contrary, it would illumine the lettering.

THE COLUMBUS EXPLOSION

In 1903, during the strike in Columbus, I feature of which contracts was to be, itself agreed with the date of all the O., of the engineers and firemen, affiliated with and part of the United Brewery Werkers, a corporal's guard of strangling and unorganized engineers and firemenbut numerous enough to scab upon the brewers and break their strike-were rounded up in that city by the agents of Gompers, were "organized" into a new "Union" of engineers and firemen, and thus furnished "Union labor" with which the brewery bosses could and did knockdown the engineer and firemens' branch cialism has ever preached the fact that of the United Brewery Workers then on strike.

The affair of 1903 was a preliminary skirmish in the campaign of the A. F. of fault with them for producing District L, to destroy the industrially organized brewers; to decompose that strong, because industrial, body of the United Brewery Workers into its component craft elements; and thus to render (for more of personal property. This year a consideration!) a valuable piece of scrvice to the brewery bosses. In the lan-This was done-as will appear that they were all to expire on the same others, duplicates and originals. A singworkers expired. The promise of making all the contracts in the breweries expire on the same day removed one of the objections of the United Brewery Workers to the independent organization of the engineers and firemen's craft of the industry. The rival organization of firemen and engineers was sustained, and the engineers and firemen, formerly affiliatd with the brewery Union and against whom the new body had scabbed, submitted to leaving their parent body and joining the new one. Obedient to the orders of the Toronto Council a new set of contracts all to ex pire on the same date, were entered into in May, 1903, with the brewery employers of Columbus by all the crafts in the brewery industry-brewers, bottlers, beerdrivers, and stationary engineers and firemen. The date for the expiration of the contracts was April 1, 1906. Did we say a new set of contracts, all to expire on the same date, were entered into? The sustement is subject to modification. A new set of contracts, all to expire on the ame date was believed to have been entered into. When April 1, 1906, came around the little Joker was discovered. The duplicates of all contracts, held by the Unions, did expire, on the same day, April 1, 1906; not so, however, the dupli cates of all the contracts held by the bosses. There was one exception. The exception was the duplicate of the con tract of the stationary engineers and fire men. The duplicate of that contract, held by the employers, expired a full year later, April 1, 1907, while the duplicate of the same contract, held by the Union drawn up under the auspices of the A. of the country to flow to Burope as contracts were to be concluded the of the stationary engineers and firemen F. of L.

was, Mr. Pierce would have so pronounced it, and the bosses would have so construed it. But no! From Gompers's pet new stationary engineers and firemen's Union lined up with the obviously forged 1907 contract; lined up with the boss; Unionism in the interest of the capitalist class! The result was to be expectedan explosion. Forty-two members of the duped firemen's Union hurled the forgery into the faces of their national officers, joined their former Union, Local No. 80 Workers; the Columbus Trade and Labor Assembly pronounced itself in no uncertain tone in favor of the brewers, seated members, and now defies the A. F. of L. to revoke its charter.

"Contracts" are begotten of fraud; fraud and corruption attend their every step; there is no honorable contract possible between the wage slave and the capitalist slave-holders. They are the bands that fetter the motions of the Giant Labor. No wonder Belmont's vice-President Gompers tours the country to the refrain of "the sanctity of contracts

Silk Workers Hasten To Embrace Industrial Unionism - Shop Meetings Held at Various Mills-Iron Workers Also Wheeling Into Line.

Paterson, N. J., January 16 .- The Industrial Workers of the World are steadily increasing is numbers and perfecting their organization in this city. The Silk workers have organized into an Industrial Union, in compliance with the new constitution adopted at Chicago, and by referendum vote of the L. W. W. membership.

Formerly there were four local unions, the ribbon weavers, the broad silk weavers, the Italian weavers' local and the dvers' local. These four local unions are now organized in one body, the Silk Workers' Industrial Union of Paterson, N. J., and is divided into five branches as follows: Branch 1, Ribbon weavers, , Broad silk weavers, Branch 3. Dyers' helpers and finishers, Reanch 4, Italian, Branch 5, Jewish.

New members are taken in at the meetings of all branches. The ribbon weavers initiated 39 new members at their last meeting, and many older members who were in arrears paid up, to be in good standing. The broad silk weavers are also making good progress, 12 new members were initiated at the last regular meeting, and since then the organizer turned in 32 applications for membership, all from one mill, most of the applicants being girls and women. At still another broad silk mill employing 75 men a shop meeting was held and the men decided manimously to join the L. W. W.

Two mass meetings of dyers' helpers and finishers were held and a third mass meeting is arranged. Here too, new members were admitted. There are about 3000 dvers' helpers in the city; meetings to organize them will be con-

The Italian branch of the Silk Workers' Industrial Union is also making good headway. The Jewish branch is only recently organized, but does not lag behind the other branches in activity. So far the Silk Workers.

Now the Iron workers are also up and doing. Last Saturday afternoon James Connolly of Newark, N. J., spoke at mass meeting which was arranged by the I. W. W. blacksmith belpers. Connolly made plain to his audience the principles of the I. W. W. in a masterly manner. This meeting will start the ball-a-rolling in the iron industry.

The Pending Election-A Word With The Working Class Thereon.

All those pominated have "Soc." at the end of their names, which means they will "Soc." it to the working class your, our common interest!" for their own material interest.

This Pon-Bah Mortimore is assisted by Ben Wilson, who doesn't spont hot air for nothing in the interest of those concerned. Two of the 21 are employers of labor in this city and there may be more proachees, reproachees turned inin the province yet Marx says, where there is no common interest there is no unity of purpose much less action.

Curious Spectacle Presented in Congress During Debate on the 25th Regiment—The Race Question Raised-The Laber Question Palpitant-The Senators Got Tangled in Their Own Meshes,

Last week's events in the Senate furnished an up-to-date living picture of the picture drawn by Dante of one of the pits of his Hell.

The subject of debate was the conduct of the President in summary discharging the colored 25th Regiment. That was the occasion. The matter debated was the race question. The matter actually in the minds of the debaters was the Labor Question. This fact, however, they all sought to conceal. In concealing it the debaters misled one another, and thereby presented the aspect of the tortured souls in that particular pit of Dante's Hell. Tillman, for some inscrutible reason.

These mutually implied but never loudly uttered reproaches constitute the feature of the tangled debate on the 25th Regiment during this week in the Senate. Reproachers became resensibly into reproachers, each, in turn assuming the characteristics of the other, an inevitable thing seeing that both were bound by a common bondclass interests against the working class.

And so it was in that Dantean pit of Hell. The common bond of the sin of hypocrisy caused the bodies flung into that nit, and who wrestled incessantly with one another, ever to assume the others' shapes. Insensibly each wrestler was transmuted into hisadversary the two then broke away and the struggle started anew.

"Let me conclude this altogether too lengthy paper, saying that, to my mind, the sciution of the tuberculosis problem means the solution of the social problem. Whatever prevents the development of tuberculosis will prevent social misery, whatever cures it will help to cure the social ills. Inasmuch as we diminish tuberculosis among the masses we will diminish suffering, misery and social discontent, and when the problem of tuberculosis shall have been solved we shall be nearer the millennium than ever before."

Do these burning sentences convey anything to the bourgeois mind? Certainly they do not, because the spectre of doing away with the causes of all preventable diseases means to do away with the profits, interests and rents of this system. It means to do away with the entire capitalist system. It means that if we do not change this system there is no hope for ever seeing diminished suffering, misery and social dis-

The new therapeutics wants nothing short of Socialism, yes, scientific Socialism, and this is the only recognition that can be paid by the inevitable demands of that ever-searching therapeutics of the twentieth century. Herbert Spencer saw the coming of Socialium and said so, and we may as well accept it with good grace. Science must readjust Itself if it wishes to redeem itself. In the words of Ernest Untermann, author of "Science and Revolution," only the universe is immortal and it cannot be destroyed. If the human mind wishes to share in this immortality, and avoid being hurled into the abyes of oblivion it has only one course open before it. The conscience can only endorse any genmovement for the promotion of an environment in which an organ of understanding can develop which will succeed in controlling the universal process. It is only the philosophy of the proletariat which furnishes a scientific basis for the realization of the most daring dreams of the thinkers of all ages. The proletarian mind, conscious of its origin, its present and future place in society and miverse, its social, terrestrial and cossion can exclaim friumphantly, "I WAE I AM AND I SHALL BE."

Children Hope of Fature.

The hope of the medical science of a future society depends chiefly upon the children of to-day. The great men, the reniuses in music, art, in mechanics nen of literature and great statesmen, must come out of the children of today. The great productivity of the future must come from men, the children of to-day. Then if the children of today are the hope of to-morrow, is it right to lend a deaf ear to the demands of the children of to-day?

What about our mothers who bear he whole burden of these children of to-day? Do we surround them with those conditions that are necessary for the hope of to-morrow? Listen to the records of the children of to-day. Dr. C. G. Herley of New York reports among the thousands of children who have been treated at the Outpatient Department Baby's Hospital, New Tork as follows: Of thousands of children, all over one year old, 20 per cent. were normal, all under one year old, 35 per cent. were normal. Then the report cites the causes as follows: First the rooms are close and ill ventilated: second, want of cleanliness; third, want of proper food; fourth, forced outings in unclean streets; fifth, wretched dwellings.

The above causes certainly explain the 80 per cent. defectives over one year old and the 65 per cent. under one year old. The report concludes by saying that heredity played an insignificant part as compared with nutrition and environment.

Child Criminals.

In the recently established juvenile court in New York City 7,643 young ninals had passed the judge's hand SSITY IS THE SAME in 1903; 4,790 were sentenced; 452 were under 7 years old; $49 between 7 and 12 PHYSICS AND CHEMISTRY—THEIR years of age; 1.487 were between 12 hand manufacture to the great contemand 14 years of age; 1,952 were between 14 and 16 years of age; 299 were arrested for burglary; 927 for larceny under $25 and 300, for over $25.

Ninety per cent of all cases that came before the juvenile court were born and raised under conditions which could produce nothing but criminals and degenerates. Isabel R. Wallack reported through the New York Times ne of the most striking works of the December 28, 1902, that there were 2.500 children in the public schools in se words carry conviction to New York City, who were making no visible progress, also that the number selves fully of the bourgeois was being steadily increased. In Great Britain a royal commission was appointed to find the causes of the degeneracy of the nation's children. In a debate in the House of Lords between Lord Meath and Bishop Ripon on July 16, 1903, this question was raised and the Duke of Devonshire, President of the Council, admitted that Great Britain's military and industrial outlook was seriously threatened. The same question was brought to the House of Commons and Sir William Anson, Secretary of the Board of Education, declared that 60,000 children now attending London's schools were unfit for instruction. Sir Frederick Morris stated that 66 per cent of men who applied for admission were physically unfit for military service. The report of the royal commission of Great Britain gave as causes of the deterioration and physical degeneration as follows: First, insufficient and poor food; second, defective housing and overcrowding; third, unsanitary surroundings.

Four hundred thousand lived !ingle-room tenements; 40,000 people lived five in a room; $,000 people lived even in a room.

In the British Isles 3,250,000 lived with n average of three persons to one room. All these reports can be duplicated in the United States of America, France, and all of the nations of the world. A royal commission was appointed to find the causes of the decreasing birth rate in New South Wales, the commission was composed of thirteen members, six of which were physicians. The conclusions of the report were as follows: "That diminution of fertility and fecundity in recent years, was due to the deliberate prevention of conception and destruction of embryonic life, and that there were no well defined economic causes. Nevertheless the fact could not be overlooked that restrictive regulation of trade designed to abolish competition and interfering with continuity of employment, rendering the income of those employed more precarious."

The report concludes by saying that the fall of the birth rate in twenty years was 30 per cent. New South Wales lost since 1860 280,000 from this cause alone. Australia nearly 1,000,000. The mind that produced diphtheria anti-toxin is certainly a genius, but the man who can lead us out of a social state where the children are working in looms, manipulating textile machines, turning out fabries by the million yards and profits for the few, and when those few are looked upon as the captains of industry, that man. I repeat, is the greatest scientist in the world. The man who lies awake all night thinking of the children with pinched faces, emaciated hodies and stunted brains deserves the gratitude of all mankind; but the man who can teach us the laws of evolution and revolution out of this degrading system to a system where all men work in a co-operative spirit deserves the blessing of human-

It is the illusion which makes, without expressly stating it, the society in which we live, the center and the final end of human history. Thanks to that illusjon, the political economy of the nineteenth and invariable laws, sociological laws which refer only to particular periods of social evolution, namely, to our capitalistic civilization, which is not centuries old in England and not even one century old in Europe and America. This illusion transports into science that rule of absolute and cold objectivity 'Science for the sake of Science." which is quite admissible in the physical sciences, but impossible for sociology. There the rule cannot be other than 'Science for life's sake,' for in sociology man is at once the observer and the observed, the judge and the judged.

Westinghouse Electric Interests Employ 38,000 Persons.

Figures recently issued by the Westinghouse Companies, embracing the allied Westinghouse interests throughout the world, reveal the fact that the Américan factories employ 31,775 men, and have a floor space of 5,356,607 square feet. These figures do not include the employes of the Westinghouse Automatic Air and Steam Coupler Company, Westinghouse Church Kerr Company, and the Westinghouse Traction Brake Company.

The Westinghouse Electric and Mann facturing Company reports a floor space of 2,422,000 square feet, but extensions under way will result in a large increase. The floor space of all American and European companies aggregates 7,000,000

The report of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company as of March 31, 1906, gave the number of employes as 14,705. The pamphlet just issued states that the company employs 17,500, an increase of 3,000 over the number given in the last annual report. In 1901 the total number of employes, exclusive of the selling organization, was

The Westinghouse Company in the year 1901, for example, did a gross business of $12,516,000. This fiscal year, it is expected to do a gross business of approximately $40,000,000. While the production of steel over the last six years has been larger than in any similar period in history, it seems that the growth of electrical production is even more pronounced.

For example, the United States Steel Corporation in 1902 did a gross business of $560,510,000, and its gross business in 1906 will aggregate about $700,000,000.

WOMAN'S FIELD

A CALL TO HER TO BECOME THE EVE WHO WILL OFFER THE APPLE OF SOCIALIST KNOWLEDGE TO MAN.

(By Rhods M. Brooks.)

It is one of the evidences of being a truly good Socialist not to run away with ideas on side issues that cannot better workingmen and women. Many are misled because they are not well grounded in the fact that there can be no "reform," no change whatsoever that means the whole of what is produced to the worker; no movement that will not rob the workingmen and women of a share of what is produced, save only Socialism, the revolutionary movement which means justice to all.

When you are driving a nail you hit it on the head over and over again. The harder and more true the blows, the sooner the nail will be driven home. Little taps do not accomplish good results. This also is true of arguments and efforts to change existing things and conditions to better the world for us all. Little taps on the head of this evil, and uncertain blows on top of that injustice will never bring about any great good for the wage earners.

It is as well to work for a private corporation as a public one, and no better in either case. Under present conditions whoever employs you must exploit you, else he or it (if a corporation) would not be "doing business." This beng a fact what good will any "reform" do the working man or woman? "Reform" in taxation means nothing special. Will it increase your pay? Not one cent, A slight reduction in taxes on the little home the workingman may have pinched himself and family to pay for, does not mean any real and lasting benefit What he does not pay in taxes will have to go for a living, for it is an unfailing law that wages are governed by supply and demand, and if the supply is greater than the demand, wages will be the lowest price at which any one can work and that is the lowest cost of living. So, you see, the capitalist is bound to get all you have whether taxes are much or

What good would municipal ownership do you? Will that increase your wages a farthing? No. It will only be changing a private master for a public one, either of which will force you to work for the lowest possible wage upon which you can barely live.

Labor is a commodity. It is bought and sold the same as corn or potatoes. Your employer buys your labor and you sell it to him. He only pays you the price at which he can get any one else to work for, the lower the better for him. This is true whether your employer is a man, a company, a corporation or the government.

Then, will you please consider what earthly difference the questions of taxes or municipal ownership can make to you as a real issue upon which to base the hope of bettering yourself? Will either "reform" raise your pay? Not the fraction of a cent, because there would be just as many workers who must have jobs as there are now; and that supply being greater that the demand, wages will not rise above what the man willing to work for the lowest can be hired for.

A few days ago a mail man in the city of Buffalo was complaining to me that the pay for his work was no more than it was twenty years ago, while the cost of living is much greater. That illustrates the point that the government, ike the private employer, will pay just as little as it can get work done for: He stupidly allows himself to be made or that is controlled by the supply of a victim, while dragging you down into workers it can get, which always is the net that leaves all useless and swent greater than it needs or the demand. Is usade the dead fly. SISTERS, for-

to think about, to work for, to fight over, without being drawn into side issues of such a description. Neither can war or outbursts of false patriotism be any help to those who are being exploited out of the largest share of what they produce. What Mr. Greathead is doing to better the world, a so-called "philanthropist," is but the misleading vanity which pretends to make something out of nothing. The little muddy, side streams that pour into a river at flood tide, are not of any value to the river. only they swell it and make it roily at a time when no one wants more water. So, the branching off into side issues may swell the political stream and fill commercial rivulets, but they mean nothing to wage workers. The question with every employer is, how he can get work done for so little that his profit will increase. He is not concerned with how you and I livewhether we have three or one meal a day. His interests are all opposite to ours, and so we do his work to his advantage, he cares nothing how we live, Of course, he may pretend he is anxious to see us "get on" and all that, but our "getting on" must first of all mean benefit to him or he will soon show us the other side of his great interest in us. Give him his dollar, keep your twenty cents and he thinks you "a pretty smart, rising sort of a man." But ask him for more of that dollar you produce, and he will curse as one "who does not know enough to let well enough alone," Yes, that is his interest in you, and his running your opinions off toward side issues that mean nothing better for you is proof that he sees some benefit in it for himself. It may be simply a stronger chain to bind you to the wheel which is breaking you into an old, worn out, life-tired man or woman. What does he care for that? He must have his "profit" and your happiness, strength, joy of life and everything you possess are mere bagatelles to him,-not worth his consideration.

And you are allowing this? Oh yes, You blindly fancy that this or that means "better times" for you and yours. Or you are ignorant enough to imagine your employer has the same interests as yourself. Poor deluded man or woman! Awake from your hopeless dream, and realize that nothing can do you any good but your own sense of what is really a remedy (not reform), for the bard, grinding life you now have. Drag along year after year; see your children slave and grow old before they have had any youth; leave hope of really living behind and merely be the animal this system forces you to be; but in the end realize that you have had the power to make life for yourself and others a joy, a boon, an uplift, if only you had not been "like dumb driven cattle" in the hands of those who have exploited von and yours even as the spider sucks dry the carcases of the fly it lures into its web.

WOMAN, to you I appeal. Do not permit this curse to go on. Arouse yourselves, work and fight for the truth. Become the Eve who offers the apple from the Tree of Knowledge to man a man or woman any better off working ward! Let our watchword be SOCIAL-

First of all Comrade Sandgren-as opped ballot box activity gives it when it says: "Both these organi-(the S. P. and the S. L. P.) n that there is a war between two classes. In the war both of have sendered splendid service.
. They have done well as propaforms notwithstanding. . . Their role is now played."

This means that Sandgren does not confuse political agitation with the ballot: he only rejects the ballot, which, as a constructive force, even in the opinion of the editor is zero. In order to make this point clear, let us analyze the nature of a Socialist political party activity. In the first place it is an incessant criticism of the actual system of society hased on the private ownership of the means of life, to which it intends to substitute another system. based on the social or collective own ership of those means—the co-operative commonwealth. This is the politi-

On the other hand this Socialist political party activity consists of a aborious propaganda for the attainment of that social system, a propaganda for the class struggle on the political field, which "implies the setting up of a 'ticket,' and that, in turn. implies the 'ballot.' "

But if the ballot, as a constructive force is zero, so must necessarily be all the amount of work spent in getting that ballot such as holding nomination conventions, caucuses, getting signatures on petitions watching at the polls. etc. etc. And we know that most of the energy of a Socialist political party is wasted on that zero proposition.

A revolutionary organization of the working class that aims at the overthrowal of the capitalist system and the establishment of the co-operative commonwealth is essentially political in character-and such is the L W. W. as Comrade De Leon himself ably proved in his Chicago speech on September 12, 1906. The one who does confuse the polltical agitation with the ballot is De It is he who uses the word political agitation or politics in the seaning of bellot agitation. On page $2 of the Preamble of the L W. W." he says: "A part, the better, the constructive part of Socialist economics. ranslates itself into the industrial organization of the working class: it translates itself into that formation that outlines the mould of the accial system; another part of Socialist economics, however mevitably translates itself into tic," Should be not confuse the politinever diamentle a revelutionary indusmould of the future society" of its Meiency to carry on the political agitation of the working class, and give this function to another organization which as we have seen is spending its working class expense.

The Industrial Workers of the World sufficiently fulfils that role of a political party of Socialism by that that it aims at the co-operative commonwealth and it teaches the class every victory is a step towards the ocial revolution—and doesn't waste the energy of the working class on a zero proposition, on something that not only may be lost, but that is always

So much in regard to confusing the political agitation with the ballot.

Now to "the point at insue." very point at issue," the editor says organization stands on its further, "is whether that economic or- bear the consequences. ganization, 'able to fill the bucket' can at all be brought together without the political agitation; the very point at issue is whether the politics ignoring sconomic organization has hitherto acmplished anything of lasting value for the working class at large; or to put it in a third and summary form, whether the decline of power with the somic organisation is not due to its contradictory posture of 'veting' for one thing and striking for its opposite. Of course, if such a thing is conceivable as the bringing together of an industrial organization able to fill the bucket' without the aid of political agitation, it were folly to waste time, energy and funds in building up and maintaining a political organization." Let us ask Comrade De Leen why is he beating around the bushes? What does he mean by politics ignering eco-Industrial Workers of the World, or

St. Louis, Mo .- It is with doubt as to | have ever been, their names and plat- | those who have heard the pure and simple political Socialist appeal to the pure and simple craft unionist to vote as he strikes. But let us not indulge any longer in these non essentials.

The question is "whether that economic organization able to fill the bucket can at all be brought together without the aid of political agitation". Before answering this question, let us consider the nature and the activity of an economic organization, such as the

Like the political party of Socialism, it aims at the overthrowing of the present system; it alms to take possession of the tools of production from the capitalist class and operate them for the benefit of the working class, which will be the whole of society.

But for the attainment of this end, the economic organization fighting the class struggle on the industrial field, it organizes the workers is their various locals, industries and departments in order to make them able to cope with modern capitalism in their everyday fight, and wrest concessions from that class locally, industrially or generally, as the case may be concessions which, unlike the politician's reforms are steps towards the revolution, as they put the working class more and more in control of the industries in which they are working.

It is founded on the recognition the fact of the division of society into two classes, between which a struggle must go on until all the toilers will come together and take over the means of production. Its aim is revolutionary, its activity political. It is revolutionary and political because its aim is to change the foundation of this society from an exchange of commodities to the co-operative commonwealth. In other words it is not like the pure and simple union, which acts as buffer between the opposing forces—the capitalist class and the working class but it is one of these forces organized.

Such an organization as the I. W. W. is brought about by the modern economic conditions, that is, by the industrial development and the revolutionary propagands, absolutely independent of any ballot party activity, which has an altogther different functien, as we have seen.

Of all that preceded we cannot see at all where the role of a ballot organization comes in. In his attempt to answer Comrade Sandaren, the editor tells us of the "jewel" or "civilized or peacefall methods of settling disputes." If this is the only argument left to defend an organization which wastes our time energy and funds, then we can rest assured that the industrial organization is the only thing able to fill the bucket or to accomplish the revolution. He might as well tell us about those lovely seances of looking each other in the eyes. They are more to the question. But it is an irony of fate to hear men telling us of settling disputes. Is that the reason for which we are organizing? We are organizing to struggle, and not to settle disputes, which have nover been settled in the interests of the working class.

Nothing could settle dianutes better than a powerful organization—able to strike terror in the heart of the capitalist class—would. Confronted with such an organization the dapitalist class would either have to submit or

The methods employed by the revojutionary industrial organization are peaceful and civilized enough for the working class. We are assembling peacefully and in a civilized manner discuss matters of our class interest which we afterwards submit to the capitalist class in form of demands. We cannot understand how Comrade De Leon jumps at the conclusion that the L. W. W. agitation-which he terms "agitation for force only"-has to degenerate into conspiracy, which excludes the masses. The industrial agitation is not and cannot degenerate into a "conspiracy" for the simple reason that it is preached in the open, and thereby enables the Revolution to be brought before the million masses. Not only does the industrial organization bring the revolution before the million masses, but it also draws the million masses to its ranks and keeps aloof the hard pushed middle class element, with Its lawyers, priests and intellectuals in general in a word all that is foreign to the working class. It draws all the tollers of all nationalities: citizens and noncitisens; all the disfranchised all the trames and "coffee-and-doughnutshuma" which are able to beat their way from Frisco all the way through the "wild west" to Chicago in order to do their own business.

As far as the "chance to a peaceful solution" goos, we are very little concerned about it. It does not depend on the working class how the last blow will have to be struck. If the capicree to step out, we can rest assured that they will, most likely, get worse.

The events that have taken place in the last sixteen or seventeen months have taught us more than the preceding two decades. They have taught us not only that the political party agitation is useless, but harmful to the industrial organization from the Pacific to the Atlantic. We have seen men eagerly listening to the industrial speaker, accidentally being an S. L. P. man, start to show the "difference" or something of that sort, then the men would turn away with a sneer at "the politician."

That the ballot agitation is harmful to the bringing together of an economic organization able to fill the bucket, is obvious: so obvious is this fact that, at the last convention of the L. W. W. we have witnessed Comrade De Leon make a motion to the effect that no organizer of any political party should be employed as organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World. Yes, one year of I. W. W. agitation and experience has brought about great changes in the revolutionary thought in this country.

Men that but a few months ago were feeling as touching an extremely delicate spot when speaking of non party affiliation clause of the I. W. W. Preamble are now dropping politics without any reservatio mentalis.

And let us not for a minute fool our elves and think that this is merely a passing crisis, a temporary manifestation of a few ever-heated brains.

No! This let-alone-politics tendency that we now are noticing in this country is the American expression of a general tendency of the revolutionary working class the world over. In Italy, Spain Switzerland, and France and even Germany with ts great three-million-strongcaper-party we can see the same thing.

In a lengthy article by our Parisian comrade A. Bruckere, recently published in The People, we can see how the working class of France, tired of political parties, is gathering in a revolutionary organization, "The General Confederation of Labour," after dropping polites altogether and adopting the "direct action." The history of this letalone-politics tendency in Europe would make a mighty interesting and instructive work, which would considerably help in the understanding of the great change that is going on in the revolutionary thought of the working class of the

Before closing we would like to say that, in writing this article, we have not been actuated by any prejudice against any particular man or that in speaking against ballot activity we have meant all the Socialist parties of the world.

We have been good, faitful membe of Socialist parites in Europe and in America for many years, but our experience as wage slaves has showed us that we have been in the wrong. We expressed our opinion, which we are sure, will not meet with the approval of those who have forgotten nothing and learned nothing by years of bitter experience.

Jos. Wagner. Leon Vasilio.

The question repeatedly asked to the dvocates of physical force only, who have favored us with their contribution, remains unanswered: "How do you expect to recruit and organize your Industrial army if you begin by rejecting the peaceful method of solving the Social Question, to wit, the political method? It is significant that none of our opponents has cared to meet this point. The all give that question a wide berth. Instead of covering the only point that is decisive they go into a vast number of subjects that may or may not be so, but have nothing to do with the real point-

The nearest our above esteemed contributors come to an answer on this particular point is the passage: the "I. W. W. sufficiently fulfills the role of a political party of Sociaism by that that it sims at the co-operative commonwealth and teaches the class struggle on the industrial field." This statement is doubly

If to "aim" at a thing is enough, then to "wish" for it should be equally sufficient. Every practical mind knows that wishes and aims, like steam, must be in the boiler of a properly organized machine before results can be obtained Wishes are good, aims still better. With out the organization to realize them they are-well, so much hot air. The question is how to recruit the elements that will constitute the requisite organization.

The second defect in the passage is still more marked. It is fatal to the conten tion of the anti-political agitationist. Indeed the I. W. W. "teaches the class struggle," and can teach it freely, and freely can proclaim its purpose to "take and hold;" but it can do so only because it plants itself upon the non-Russian, that is, upon the civilized principle of solving social difficulties. The L. W. W. expressly recognizes the necessity of working class unity "on the POLITI- So doing the I. W. W. can preach and teach in the open. Its posture is clearto organize the economic body that shall be able to reflect its own political party, whereby to give a chance to the peaceful settlement of the present social "unpleasantness," and that shall, withat have the requisite power to enforce the fiat of its ballot. To say that the I. W. W. can freely teach the class struggle, now that its preamble is so wise and sound, is a substantial denial of the claim put forth by our correspondents that political agitation is worthless. Let the I. W. W. follow our correspondents' views and strike out the political clause, that moment they will find out that the present revolutionary agitation conducted by the I. W. W. will have come to an end. Having placed itself upon the plane which the Russian revolutionists are constrained to agitate on, the I. W. W. will be treated to a dose which it will itself have invited, a dose of Russian governmental terrorism. So far from having contributed to raise the tone of the country, the I. W. W. will have helped the capitalists to drag that tone down to the level from which the Russian revolutionists are now seeking to raise their country.

This disposes of the only remotely relevant argument made by our correspondents. There are, nevertheless two others that should not be ignored, however irrelevant.

Our correspondents say: "We can not understand how comrade De Leon jumps at the conclusion that the I. W. W. agitation-which he terms 'agitation for force only'-has to degenerate into conspiracy.' The answer to this is: Either our correspondents claim that De Leon has said that "the present I. W. W. agitation has to degenerate into conspiracy;" if that is their meaning then they will have a hard time to prove that De Leon made any such statement. The I. W. W. is what the I. W. W. is to-day, not what our friends, who sign the letter published above, seek to turn it into. They are not yet so far. If, however, our correspond ents merely made a slip in their statement, and what they meant to say is that De Leon holds that by removing the political clause from the preamble of the W. W. AND RETAINING THE "TAKE AND HOLD" CLAUSE, then the I. W. W. would have to degenerate into conspiracy-if that was their meaning then they have quoted De Leon correctly. A simple denial of this conclusion does not refute a conclusion drawn from the irrefutable historic experience from which the conclusion flows. At this point a serious illusion seem to reveal itself as taking possession of the minds of our esteemed contributors. They seem to believe that the preaching of the "industrial" form of erganization would be sufficient to drill a revolution ary economic organization. We would like to hasten to dispel the illusion by suggesting to them the following prin-

1. The exclusion of the political clause from the L W. W., leaving the "take and hold" clause extant, would drive the agitation into the narrow quarters of a conspiracy, with all the evil results thereof.

2. The exclusion of both the political clause and the "take and hold' clause, leaving extant only the "industrial" form of organization, would fatally steer the I. W. W. into the quagmire of the Gompers-Mitchell A. F. of L.

The other of the two irrelevant ar-numents that should be taken up is the me contained in the passage: "So obvious is this fact [the harmfulness of convention of the L W. W., we have witnessed comrade De Leon make a motion to the effect that no organiser of any political party should be employed as organizer for the L. W. W."-De Leon is correctly quoted there; the purport of his motion is, however, misinterpreted. So far from his motion being an evidence of the harmfulness of the political agitation, it is an evidence of his position that such agitation is essential to success. Considering such agitation es-sential to success, he is earnestly bent upon the bringing together of a revolutionary economic organization powerful mough to reflect its own political party, that is, its own forerunner that may afford a chance to a peaceful solution. Consequently, recognizing the fact that there are to-day in this country two rival and hostile political parties, both flying the colors of Socialism, it should he obvious that organizers of either of the two parties, acting simultaneously as I. W. W. organizers, could not choose but hamper, rather than promote the growth of the I. W. W .- ED. THE

TWO LETTERS

Correspondence Between the Independent Labor Party of the Transvaal, and the American S. L. P.

INDEPENDENT LABOUR PARTY, Transvaal.

Johannesburg, Transvaal, Sept. 30th, 1906.

To our fellow workers in Great Britain, Australia. America and other parts of the world:-Comrades.

The Independent Labour Party and workers of the Labour Movement in the Transvaal, are on the eve of one of the greatest battles between capital and abour ever fought in any part of the world. With a population of less than 200,000 white adults, divided by nationality, we have to face capital united in every possible way to serve its own interests. The gold mining industry here represents capital to the extent of over £200,000,000. There is still a larger vested interest in land. It has been authoratively stated, that some seventeen men own three-quarters of the whole of the area of the Transvaul. They are further backed up by one of the largest amalgamations of Capital extant, with its headquarters upon the Continent of Europe.

This body of Capitalists have the control of the entire South African Press, and dominate the Governments of adoining Colonies, Chambers of Commerce and Trade, and every Legislative, Municipal, and Administrative body through out the Country, besides subjecting to their own interests by indirect ways, the wishes and freedom of Merchants and the middle classes.

Up to the present time the Independent Labour Party and Trades Unions have escaped their machinations. This has not been accomplished without a bitter struggle, or without leaving many a former comrade in the movement, behind, on the way, a victim to the snares of bribery, corruption or oppression. We also submit that, the importation of for one of its objects the crushing of the Labour Movement in its inception, by supplanting the white workers by a heap, servile, non-voting class of labour.

Since the formation of the Indepenlent Labour Party here, our whole efforts have been concentrated on propaganda and organizing work. This has used up every penny of our income, and we are practically penniless at the present time. We have but three short months before our First Elections to raise funds for Labour Candidates.

Our Trades Unions have no accumulated funds, as they are all of recent formation. As a consequence of the ter rible state of depression existing throughout South Africa, these Trades Unions, however willing, are totally unable to subscribe for the purpose we desire. Their funds and members have been taxed to the utmost degree, to meet the necessities of their unemployed mem bers. It is our opinion that this depression has been purposely manufactured, to drive out of the country men who would certainly not support a party which for three and a half years used the legislative and administrative machfine solely to cheapen working costs on the mines to the detriment of every labour interest.

making this appeal to you for funds to assist in returning Labour Representatives to our First Parliament we would point out that the Independent Labour Party here is thoroughly representative of all sections of labour. It numbers amongs its members all men who have stood foremost in the Labour Cause for a number of years, and also the Executive Members of Trades Unions. PUBLIC OPINION is entirely in its favour, and it is rapidly gaining the ENTIRE CONFIDENCE OF THE

It is the hope of the Party, to gain ufficient Seats to dominate the future Government of the Country.

The return of 20 candidates will probably be thus rendered necessary. We estimate that therefore some 35 seats will have to be contested. We have plenty of able men, but no money, and in a country like this where the dominance of wealth is so great, we cannot in our present circumstances expett to contest even one seat successfully. Any of your members who know the Transvaal, we feel sure will verify this. The coming Parliament is to be elected for five years. We submit that unless successful in returning our Candidates, the Chinese Importation Ordinance will be renewed in a still worse form viz.:—That the Chinaman WILL BE PERMITTED A FULL RIGHT TO PERFORM SKILLED WORK, which the present Ordinance, if carried out properly would debar them from doing This will mean driving out of this counry thousands of skilled workmen now here, and their entering into competition in the already overstocked Labour Markets elsewhere. We further feel sure that the coming elections will settle the question once and for all, of South Africa becoming a white Settler's Country.

We therefore urgently appeal to all Socialist and Labour bodies for their immediate assistance. As the Elections are but three months off, immediate action is necessary.

Should at any time we receive appeals of this nature from your organizations we feel sure it will meet with the ready response which we hope this appeal will receive.

All monies should be forwarded to the Bank of Africa (Johannesburg Branch); to the credit of the Independent Labour Party, to be drawn upon by the following Trustees at a Conference held to-day. P. Whiteside, J. P., Town Councillor and Gen. Sec., S. A. Engine Drivers' and Firemens' Association. T. J. Kneebone, J. P., Organizing Secretary, Amalgamated Society of Engineers (South Africa). And John Reid, J. P., Secretary, Pretoria Trades Council. The foregoing appeal was ordered to be sent to all Socialist and Labour bodies throughout the world, by a Conference representing the whole of the branches of the Independent Labour Party of S. Africa, this 30th day of September, 1906. Signed T. Bain (Chairman.) H. W. Sampson

Executive Committee. Independent Labor Party

The Transvaal, South Africa. Centlemen

In my letter to you dated Nov. 8th, promised to submit your communication of Sept. 30th to N. E. C. sub-Committee of our Party. This I did at the regular session of that body held Nov. 16th. Pursuant to its instructions, I must inform your committee that we find it impossible to assist your Party Chinese Labour into this country, had in the way you request. We have come to this conclusion, because, from your statement, we are led to believe that the Independent Labor Party of the Transvaal is not a revolutionary party. We hold that the condition of the working class can be permanently improved only by complete emancipation from slavery. A bona-fide party of the working class, therefore, should have for its purpose the seizure, not only by capitalist government, but what is of vastly more importance, the confiscation of capitalist property. In America we have found that all political and economic movements which look only to the reform of capitalist society, always end, when in power, by disgracefully compremising, or by brazenty selling out the interests of the working class. We have learned through bitter experience, that, so long as the government protects individuals in the possession of private property in the means of labor, it matters not at all whether it is administered by capitalists or by individuals who were sometime workingmen. If you would give to the revolutionary socialists of the world a guarantee that, in case you are uccessful in the coming election, you would banish all capitalists from the Transvaal, instead of the doubly enslaved Chinese workingmen, I am sure that the response would be as enthusiastic as so glorious a purpose would justify

With assurances that we have faith in your good intentions, and venturing the hope that your movement in South Africa may become revolutionary in method and purpose, I remain, Yours for the emancipation of the working class, Frank Bohn. National Secretary Socialist Labor Party, U. S. A.

ctrical World" of last December 29th quotes approvingly passages from an address delivered in the course of the previous week before the Unity Club of Montclair, N. J., by A. H. Grant on the "failure of socialistic methods in city government."

Mr. Grant argues that, "IN SPITE OF THE DENIAL OF THOROUGH-GOING SOCIALISTS, the ownership and operation by cities of traction, tele-, gas, electric light and water IS SOCIALISTIC, IN THAT IT SUBSTITUTES COLLECTIVISM for private enterprise." Proceeding from these premises, the gentleman then trates the numberless and untioned, as they are unquestionable, dis of such ownership and operation. n he reaches the conclusion implied, that Socialism must cted. De Quincey, writing in the part of last century, neatly overthe pretensions of the ec to the privilege of a priesthood, whose alt science was inacc sible to the by observing that nine-tenths d their reasoning needed no econge to handle, but could be trated by anyone possessed of ele-tel knowledge in logic. Had Mr. nt lived in time to be embraced by uincey's genius, the gentleman have been included in the cateory of the economists whom a little thinking knocks out. Mr. Grant's reasoning in conden micipal ownership is collectiv icialism; they are wrong; al ownership is collectivism; al ownership is had for these, and these and these reasons; therefore is rejectable." Upon that m of logic the following reasoning ild he muhakable: "Prohibitionists that drunkenness is prohibitionthey are wrong; drunker and these and these reasons; fore Probibitionism produces all m produces all bed results and is rejectable." Or the following reasoning: "Mr. Grant s that he is an idjot; he is wrong; he is an idiot; idiocy is bad for these, ad these, and these reasons; therefore to, Grant should be put into a lunatio tive reasoning taints Mr. oning. The defect, one what Mark has well called arity of bourgeois reasoning taking for granted the very g at lasue, and expending energy proving what is not denied. Soe not dany, on the contrarit has led the way in proving, the evil cipal ownership." What n does deny is that "municipa is collectivism. Instead of ary proof upon proof of urt, his object being to discredit or collectivism, should have ed, not merely asserted, as he does, icipal ownership" is colleccipal ownership is not collecm. So far from its being collec m it implies a denial of funda tries of collectivian The external form seems Sode; the internal essence is thoral point in common—they both se rule, the rule of a propclass over a property-less at is bought in the labor-marest like any other chattel. Collectivisy the class system of society; coloverthrows the system by plunder of the working class, and cheating all around; where collectivism is in force production for use and not for sale is the norm; "profits" vanish; cheating is no more.

Where economic opportunities are unequal, class rule reigns; where class rule reigns, the ruling class owns government; where the ruling class runs government, it (the ruling class), and government owns. Municipal ownership means, under capitalism, ownership, concentrated ownership, by the capitalist class. He who piles up proof of the worthlessness of "municipal ownership" simply helps the Socialist to prove the utter worthlessness of capitalism, the fact that it is a system sconer ended than mended.

A GREAT THOUGHT TESTED. Mrs. Potter Palmer, who performed the office of hosters to the late gathering of the Civic Federation in Chicago is de-lighted. Besides being de-lighted the lady has suddenly developed an amount of socio-economic penetration that verges on genius, if it is not actually genius. She says, as the result of her observations at the gathering: "If one side only knew the other as it should, there would be less friction." No generalization on social questions, made by either Marx or Engels excels Mrs. Potter Palmer's.

Just consider:

"Friction" is a state of things that arises between hodies of men that think they can pull together, and try the feat.

In order successfuly to pull together the two bodies must have a comme starting point and a common goal.

Suppose "one side," say the Working Class, knew the other, the Capitalist Class, as it should. What would Labor ascertain? The first thing it would ascertain would be that all that the Capitalist Class has is wealth produced by, but sponged from the Working Class The second thing that it would ascertain is that there could be no Capitalist Class unless there was a class that in some one of a score of ways had been stripped of the necessaries for independent production. The third thing that it would ascertain is that the ratio of fat on the ribs of the Canitalist Class is in inverse relation to th fat on the ribs of the Working Class. The fourth thing that it would ascertain is that for there to be one Mrs. Pot ter Paimer, prancing in silks and ating, there must be at least 1,000 en of the Working Class shivering in calles. Having ascertained these various facts, that "one side" would know the other as it should," and so knowing it would realize that its salvation involves the damnation of the other, the Capitalist Class.

Now suppose the "other side," the Capitalist Class, knew the other, the Working Class, as it should. What would Capital ascertain? The first thing it would ascertain would be that, in order to live the "other side" has to work for it. The second thing that Capital would ascertain would be that, in order to live still better, the "other side" has to work for it still harder The third thing that Capital would ascertain would be that, in order to live better still, the "other side" has to work for it harder and harder still. Having scertained these various facts that "one side," Capital, would "know the other as it should," and so knowing it would realise that its safety and salvation involves the degradation and damnation of the Working Class.

the two would "tear away." There might be a clash. Probably there would be, but only for an instant. Friction.

The test of great thoughts is their smess, once stated. Mrs. Potter Palmer's thought stands the test triumphantly.

TRANSVAAL BOCIALISM.

Under the title "Two Letters" a cor indence will be found elsewhere in this issue between the Independent Labour Party of the Transvaal and the cialist Labor Party of the United States. In response to a request from the former for funds towards its campaign, one of the main purposes of which is the exclusion of Chinese labor, the latter declines to render aid towards an agitation so anti-Marxian as to tend, instead of uniting the proletariet of all countries, to play into the capitalist's hand of rupturing the world-wide Nation of the Proletariat by race distinctions.

The S. L. P. is well aware of the existence of that frame of mind that icipalise , causes some folks to deny unto others at private ownership have | the capacity to utter themselves on any general principle because of lack of intimate knowledge with some detail. In Congress, just now, Senator uth Carolina, has been disputing the fitness of Northern Senators to discuss the question of negro ching, seeing those Senators do not live in States having a majority of egroes, and have not, like himself, I intent on profits only, which means "lived fifty-nine years among negroes." And so there will presumably be folks in the Transvaal who may deny the fitness of the American Socialist Labor Party to express itself upon the Chinese Question in the Transvaul, seeing that, neither the Party as a body, nor any of its members has resided long enough in the Transvaal to be acquainted with the unspeakable horrors that Chinese labor has introduced not the collectivity, owns whatever the there. As in the case of Senator Tillman and negro lynching, the attitude of the Transvaal anti-Chinese labor men would neither hold water, nor bear criticism. The S. L. P. of America is fully aware of the revolting, the unprintable practices that have been brought home to the Chinese barracks in the Transvaal. The columns of "Reynolds Newspaper" on the subject are no secret here, nor is the S. L. P. unaware of the stenchful explosion that these revelations produced in Parliament. At the same time, such inciciples, any more than isolated cases of negro bestiality in South Carolina can repeal the principle that lynching is mob-law, more baneful a practice to society than any individual negro crime.

> Behind the mask of indignation at isolated instances of negro bestiality, there hides the Southern manufactur er's despot-hatred of Labor, whom the white exploiter would cow, terrorize and keep in abject submission for his private purposes. So likewise behind the indignation at the revolting practices discovered in the Chinese camps of the Transvaal, there lurks, consclously or unconsciously, the bourgeois-instilled spirit of competition between race and race, creed and creed. nationality and nationality-man and man

With a loud howl did the Amsterdam International Congress throw out the proposition presented mainly by Socialist party delegates from America looking to the establishment of differ ences in races. That "backward races" resolution was not even allowed to some to a vote at Amsterdam; its sponsors were shamed into withdrawing it; and the delegation of the Socialist Labor Party acted as a unit in joining to put the seal of condemnation upon so inhumanly stupid and stupidly inhuman a proposition. The answer of the S. L. P. of America to the Independent Labour Party of the Transvaal is in line with the action taken by the International Congress of Amsterdam, which the S. L. P. is proud to have contributed in emphasizing through its delegation.

ADDITIONAL "STATE'S EVIDENCE"

Prof. Joseph French Johnson, Dean of the New York University School of Commerce, has an article in the New York "Herald" of the 2d instant entitled "A Peep at 'Prosperity's' Seamy Side." It will be noticed that Pros-ances and means to boot of what is termed "Prosperity." Hard is the description to distinguish from a description of the course of the events around a faro table during the rush season. The Professor's conclusions are couched in these words:

Prof. Johnson describes the appli-

"I may be pessimistic, but I think the social and moral effect of our recordbreaking prosperity is bad, and I doubt if we should pray for its long continuance without the chastening stroke of a panic."

The sentiment is fully implied in the title of the article itself. Prosperity in quotation marks, with a "seamy side" besides, can not be what it is cracked up for. Moreover the "Prosperity" that requires the "chastening stroke of a panic" must be essential adversity Prof. Johnson's views tally closely with those of ex-Treasurers Shaw, who expressed hs apprehensions on the score

Prof. Johnson's article has the medit of being in line with the truths that are how escaping in rapid succession from the lips of the capitalist class-truths that Socialism has been foretelling and foreproving these many years: Capitalist Prosperity spells national, popular adversity, decline and ruin.

Prospérity is a blessing. Blessings proceed from sound sources. That which has its roots in a faro-table system may at times look like prosperity. The proof of the pudding again lies in the eating. That which looks like prosperity is so or not so if its continuance or discontinuance continues well-being or prevents it; if, however, that which seems to be prosperity has a "seamy side," a side unknown to blessings, the seamy side is bound to that nothing but "the chastening stroke of a panic" can redeem "our prosperity" involves a contradiction that gives the lie to the claim that what the nation has been enjoying is prosperity.

There is no popular prosperity pos sible under a social system which places the people's welfare in the hands of faro-bankers. Capitalism is such a system. The "Prosperity" it ushers in moans of the working class, and which leads direct to the "chastening strokes" of panics, that is, to periods of intensfied and multiplied popular distress.

Whether the case is put as ex-Sec retary Shaw did; or whether it is put as the New York "Sun" did when it admitted the existence to-day of great er discontent and uneasiness than be fore the firing on Fort Sumter, despite "our unparalleled prosperity"; or "Evening Post" when it recently drop-whether it is put as did the New York ped "Laissez-Faire" as a principle of conservatism; or whether it is put as Prof. Johnson now does, it all comes down to the same—the paths of Capiperity in the said article appears in talism lead but to disaster.

Section Cincinnati, Ohio, appreciating the need of systematic work, in order to produce good results, has elected a committee of ten to circulate the Party Press. The result of their first week's work is 9 subs., and they hope to do better than that. One man, perhaps, could get 9 subs in a week, but he could not keep it up week after week while a committee of ten, without any unusual exertion by any individual, should be able to keep it up indefinitely. CLASH OF BOURGEOIS THOUGHT

Singularly symbolic of the at once alien and bourgeois essence of the Socialist party is a certain motion, now before that party for a referendum. together with the argument against the

The motion proceeds from Ferdinand Ufert, a national committee member from the State of New Jersey. It consists of five whereases summing up the arbitrary action of President Roosevelt in the matter of the dishonorable discharge of the colored troops of the Twenty-fifth regiment: pointing out the fact that the innocent in this instance are made to suffer with the guilty; detailing the evil consequences of the discharge to the men in that it would forever debar them from reentry to service or to secure any manner of employment under the government"; and holding up to scorn the "great injustice thereby done to members of our class." The motion culminates in a resolution denouncing the action of the President on the ground that the Socialist party is in accord with the International Organization that "justice be meted out to all regardless of color, creed or condition."

Language like this would be in place in Germany. There, indeed, soldiers may be referred to by Socialists as "members of our class." In Germany, workinginen are taken, against their will, into the Army, and kept there for a term of at least three years, forced to do military service. In Germany the treatment bestowed upon soldiers, their housing, their future prospects-all wear into view, leaving in the end this is just matter for Socialist solicinothing but that side. The admission | tude. Not the bourgeols misty sense of "justice." but the concrete material interests of the "members of our class" concerns the German Socialists and frequently constitute the theme of their just denunciation of the government's treatment of soldiers. But here in America! Here where enlistment is voluntary, here where the soldier chooses his avocation, and that avocation the avocation of manslaughter-to is one whose trail is marked by the here refer to soldiers as "members of our class," and to demand "justice" for them in the name of Socialism, that is the limit of the grotesque. The act is explainable only by the theory that the Socialist who indulges in it has his mind so steeped in German practices that he is not even capable to discern the sense of such act in Germany. hence the nonsense of the same in America.

But not yet is the picture complete No organization can absolutely guarantee the soundness of each member There may be some exceptional member. The errors of such are not symbolic of the organization itself. In this instance, however, the national committee member of New Jersey does not stand as the exception that proves the rule, in the Socialist party. The national committee member from Alabama, La Rue, hastens to supplement his New Jersey compeer and thereby to perfect the picture. The Alabama national committee member objects to the motion of the New Jersey national committee member-upon what ground in particular? The burden of his argument is that the New Jersey proposition "injects the Negro question into the Socialist party": and he save: "T think there is no question that the President's action has the entire approval of the Southern Socialists, and it must be admitted in all fairness that we know the Negro character better than do our northern and western comrades. Southern Socialists are already sufficiently criticized because we demand for the Negro economic justice. The adoption of this resolution by this body would be seized upon by every capitalist paper in the South, with the inevitable result of handicapping and retarding the Southern branch [where Negro labor predominates] of the Socialist movement for a good while to come."

UNCLE SAM AND BROTHER JONATHAN.

BROTHER JONATHAN - Do you know that I have at last found a flaw in Socialist Reasoning?

UNCLE SAM ... Let her rip; what is it? B. J .- Socialists want to abolish cripital, isn't it?

B. J.-Now, then without capital we would relapse into the the barbarism of universal poverty. We would be deprived of many an advantage we now enjoy. To destroy capital were to destroy a lever of civilization, and that, you know, is an impossible task. Civilization will not back; it will move forward only-

U. S. (applauding enthusiastically)-Well said!

B. J.-Wasn't I right? Is not that a fatal flaw in Socialism? I am glad to see you applaud me; it does not fre-1.50 quently happen.

U. S .- I applauded your last sentiments: "Civilization will not move backwards; its course is forward only." But the premises you start from are all

B. J.-Wrong!

U. S .-- Yes. By the way, how did you 1.50 like those glasses of applejack we had the other day? B. J.—(smacking his lips)—Prime they were, and no mistake.

U. S .- Now, then suppose some man were to say to you: "He who takes applejack dies simultaneously under 25.00 painful convulsions and great agony ?"

B. J .- I would tell him he was talking through his hat.

U. S .- And suppose he were to proceed to take out of his pocket a bottle labelled "Applejack," were to give that to a dog, and the dog were forthwith to kick and howl himself out of life? B. J .- I would say the bottle's label was a fraud; it might bear the label of "applejack," but probably it contained strychnine. U. S.-Suppose, now, that man were to say, "I call this 'appleaick."

B. J .- I would say to him that he was free to call it what he liked, but I call it strychnine, and that to give the name of applejack to a thing known as strychnine was a quibble and a fraud.

U. S .- You have just now accurately described the man who will give the name of "capital" to what is no more capital than strychnine is applejack.

B. J. (looks up with surprise.) U. S .- It is not capital that constitutes the lever of civilization you speak of; it is the concentrated and perfected machinery of production, whereby cooperative work becomes possible, and the quantity of wealth yielded by labor is plentiful enough to afford comfort to all

only when it is owned by private individuals. Owned by private individuals and operated for their private profit, the concentrated machinery of production becomes "capital," and then, so far from being a lever of civilization and a source of human welfare, it becomes a lever of harbarism and a source of human misery. It strips concentrated machinery and production and co-operative work of all the good that is in them; it robs them of the civilizing and beneficent powers; it promotes on the one end of the social ladder popular poverty, such as was never before known in the world's history, and on the other end purseproud crime, ignorance and immorality.

B. J.'s (eyes open wide.) U. S .- Socialism wants to destroy capital: i. e., the form of private ownership of the modern and concentrated machinery of production.

B. J.-I now see.

U. S .- Socialists do not oppose; on the contrary, they favor, promote and hail every progress of the sciences that causes production to be carried on in a more concentrated way, i. e., more and more co-operatively.

B. J.-That makes me a Socialist. U. S .- So is every honest man on whom intelligence dawns. Capital ismachinery of production put to bad use. Socialism aims at freeing the machinery.

of production from that Old Man of the Sea-Capitalism. B. J .- Let us all give a helping handt ce penciling you the few lines a day or two ago, I think, perhaps, you will like to hear the details of why we have taken this position. You remember I you some time ago, regarding the e took in the last state convention, on a revolutionary platform. After fully studying into the matter, I was struck with the inconsistency at attempting to maintan this position as a of the Socialist party, and escially, as state organizer. I spoke to te committee of the falsity, and they laughed at my "scruples." As time ly enough that the S. He is a Natn'l com. man.

In the meantime, Pete Winter, State com. man, was studying over the matter, and became convinced, as I previoushad been, of the absurdity of calling creeives revolutionists, and at the same time giving the lie to our words by actwith a party which repudiates the only truly quevolutionary movement in the I. > A beacon light to the wage-slave as he groans beneath the master's lash, the Socialist movement must be kept strictly within the grasp of the workers. LESSONS FOR THE FUTURE. To the Daily and Weekly People:- ism and the impact sent a tremor tions to be considered at the conference, through the whole capitalist body. A dispatch sent to the Indianapolis News on Dec. 11th headed "The A. F. of L. to the Rescue" and enclosed proves that the blow was felt.

The handful of L. W. W. men in Schanectady, probably did not realize the full effect of the strike, very likely did not believe they were strong enough to jar the system, but the result speaks for itself.

The strike produced a revelation. It laid bare the fact, that the capitalist class knows the I. W. W., and it proved the collusion of the "pure and simple" leaders with the capitalist class. It proved the solidarity of the workers in the I. W. W. and the blind following of leaders in the A. F. of L.

It was not a defeat. It was a solid victory. Now, if the Schenectady workers will strike just as solidly at the ballot-box at the next election there will be another far at the system felt through its entire length and breadth.

Schenectady, N. They made no demonstration,

The company employs 15,000 men, the majority of whom are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor which is not concerned in the present trouble. There has been ball feeling between the Industrial Workers and the American ederation of Labor for some time, and it is reported that the Federation has volunteered to the company to fill the places of the strikers on short notice. There was a large crowd of men at the employment office of the company this morning looking for work. The men struck beginse three members of their organization had been discharged. The company then offered to re-employ the three men and put them in other departments. The strikers agreed to this but the union objected.

A SUGGESTION.

To the Daily and Weekly People:-Allow me space in the most valuable of papers, the Daily and Weekly People, for a suggestion which I would like to make, as I see the generous response to the Moving Fund, and which I would like to have a discussion on, among party members, through the columns of the Daily and Weekly People.

That suggestion is this, namely, "the best means to obtain a site and a building for the party's plant, which is to be also owned by the party," so that in the near future we shall not have to be at the mercy, as we now are, of capitalist from place to place.

It was an advancement, of which no party of to-day can boast, when we got our press, but why stop there? Comrades, let us keep advancing until we have done our mission, i. c., established the co-operative commonwealth,

Hoping the comrades will give this the consideration it deserves, I remain, yours for the revolution,

FAKE REASONING AND FALSE STATEMENTS EXPOSED.

To the Daily and Weekly People:-We find in "The Appeal to Reason" of October 6, 1906, this bit of information: Socialism is industrial, not political; but it must gain the political power to inaugurate the industrial regime. When that is done the political feature of government will go the way of the stage coach when railroads came, not by any law denying the right to stage it, but because no one will want to use the stage."

If this means anything it means that the Socialists must first become victorious at the ballot box before there is any chance whatever for the wage-carn ing class to understand itself sufficiently to carry on industrial government. And that in spite of the economic obstacles. that the capitalists can use to hinder such a victory; for instance, keep the Socialist at work on election day, as was recently shown in the "Union Sentinel," by the State Secretary of the Wisconsin Socialist party. And then only would the Socialist Republic come into being just as fast as the political government would organize the industries democratically and no faster.

In-the "Appeal" for December 1, 1906, we find: "You would hardly expect municipal or government ownership to he successful and satisfactory when such industries are placed by politics in the hands of men who are grafters, but who do not believe in the principle of publie ownership, would you?"

Yet the "Appeal" supports a political party (the Socialist party) that upholds an economic organization that opposes the "democratic management" of industries. Is it not more reasonable to trust and support a political organizattion (the Socialist Labor Party) that is the object of the venom of an enemy -and begot the enemy as shown in the "Appeal" of the last date stated above. to wit: "One of the causes of disintegra tion was the Socialist Trade and Labo Alliance, promoted by the S. L. P. and organized in 1896"-because it declared itself in favor and persists in favoring an economic organizattion (the L. W. W.) that stands committed to collec tive ownership of the means of production-industrial demorescy-in preference to an economic organization that allows the capitalists to use itself against its component parts? It is not at all certain that a political party (the S. P.) that supports a press that refuses to uphold an economic organization com mitted to, and without which "demowhich have a tendency to hysterical under the auspices of the American Fe- to go slow when once successful at the ballot box in organizing the industries ful with its pure and simple political policy, defended by such a press, it would not be improbable for the officials of the political government to organize as slowly as possible the industries democratically, for graft,

> Perhaps the "Appeal" doubts the wis dom of the pure and simple political policy, seeing as we do that it reprints in the last issue quoted from, under the caption: "The Threatening Cloud," an item from the New Castle (Pa.) "Herald." as follows: "A cloud no larger than a man's hand is visible in the political sky. Will it overspread it and drench the world with trouble! This cloud is Socialism. Herbert Spencer predicted that Socialism will ultimately triumph: that its establishment will be the greatest disaster the world has ever known; and sooner or later it will be brought to an end by a military despot-

> Nor is this all. The "Appeal" is not particular how it opposes that party (the S. L. P.) as we see by the quotation taken from the issue last quoted from, as follows: "The party officers had succeeded in securing to the membership of New York City the exclusive nower of electing and recalling the national officers, etc."-Whereas the facts are-"the Section or Sections of the place selected action to a general vote of the party," as shown in constitution adonted at national convention in 1896-See Art. 4. Sec. 1, of same, and also proceedings of said convention-and which the writer never saw the "Appeal" oppose while he was a reader of it in 1897 and 1898. Silas Hinkel.

AN AMENDMENT.

To the Daily and Weekly People :- I would like to call the attention of the members of the Socialist Labor Party to privately owned property and be moving the following amendment to the constitution, proposed by Section Kansas City, "All members of the Socialist Labor Party, if eligible, shall be members of the Industrial Workers of the World."

The reason and object of this resolution are that there are many persons who will loudly abvocate the L. W. W. but neglect to prove their words by their actions, or who secretly or openly are against the L. W. W. Such persons will try to get into the S. L. P. but such a rule if enforced will act as an obstacle. It is hoped that enough other sections will endorse this resolution to submit it to a referendum.

H. G., SCHENECTADY, N. Y.-Notice received too late for early publication.

L. J. F. CHILLICOTTE. O.-The case is one illustrative of the falsity of the capitalist's pretances concerning "equality before the law." The routipe claims of the workingman against the capitalist are so small (however pregent to himself) that it would cont him more to collects than to drop the matter. Thus he is victimized all around.

E E S. NEW YORK-Those statistical tables of Sanlel have to be read with caution. They are full of inaccuracies, and their language is loose. Then they are also defective. The figures for the cost of living (retail prices) are incomplete. overlook the items of rent, and of deterioration of goods. The result leads to falsa conclusions. See Weekly People of last May 5. The matter was there treated quite fully. (Daily, December 8, 1305.)

J. S. NEW YORK-It would take six columns to answer the six questions. They may be compressed into one, to which the answer is: There is great hurry on the part of the Volks-"Daily Call." . The reason is, first, "The Worker" is a tectotal failure: the Corporation is anxious to unload: if the "Daily Call" is started, there would be a good pretext to drop "The Worker." Secondly, if the "Daily Call" is started the Corporation may have better chances to stick its hands in the funds collected for the said "English" daily," than now it enjoys: the Corporation expects to do some or all of the job. As to what the chances of a paper, begotten by such causes, are you may judge for yourself.

W. G. D., WINONA, MINN.-Why, man, there is room enough in the Movement for scores of men, even of identical capabilities and lines of capabilities, fet alone of different capabilities. H. J. F., CHICAGO, ILL.-There is not now any Socialist publication in Ireland. M. S., SCHENECTADY-The Western Federation of Miners was organized in 1893. The American Labor Union was organized ten years later, 1903. The two were not organically united although they had some affiliation through their officers. For instance, at the first I. W. W. convention, Haywood appeared as a delegate of both organizations. The W. F. of M. originally endorsed the S. L. P.; subsequently it endorsed the S. P.; later still it dropped the S. P.. M. R., TRENTON, N. J .- You misquote history and misapply it. As to Nathan Hale, like the rest of the American revolutionists, he had first voted the Revolution in:o power. Probably, now that the Caldwell paper died, and it is to be issued in Scattle, fault will be found with us for saying "Idaho Socialist" died, claiming it did not die because Titus is going to start another venture in Seattle, At this rate and by that reasoning, were Titus to start his wild-cat venture in a hundred successive towns there would be 100 more "Socialist" papers. The theory would be that what does not exist does exist: Your critique is of that

J. A. S., GLOBE, ARIZ.-Those interested in "the best interests of the S. L. The most important question to comdere the convention of the Belgia, Prade Unions, the first west: in January was that of their attitude towards the political movement. In a thrilling speech on the subject, delegate Delarusile said:

A VICTORY FOR INDUSTRIALISM

THE TIDAL WAVE OF ORGANIZATION ON THE SWEDISH RAILROADS

[From the Julfacklan by V. R.-Trans- | wage slaves themselves exist also very lated by Olive M. Johnson.] The most remarkable organization work during the year is the awakening among the railroad employes. Their organization about trebled during the first months of the year. The Swedish Railroad Employes Union had scarcely 8,000 members at the beginning of the year. In October, when this is written, it claims 23,000 members and events point to a membership of over 25,000 at the close of the year. Employes of state and private reads are included in this organization. The above figures are exceptional and show that a positive tidal wave in favor of united organization has burst out over the ranks of the R. R. workers that has carried with it many previously sluggish, untutored, and, in some instances, even hostile elements. Such a movement does not come of itself. It arises out of many and deep lying causes. It is lmpossible even to hint at all these in a short article. As the most important, however, must be mentioned, the growing discontent over existing conditions of employment and the common feeling that previously applied remedies are ineffective.

The causes of discontent among the R. R. workers are on the whole, the same as those which effect the whole working class, namely low wages, long hours, great risk and, as a whole, a low standard of living. To this must be added that the R. R. are organized after a military patern and that a sharpe caste system is enforced.

The wages of the poorer paid has been mimaginably low. The private roads as a rule have paid less than the state road. When, at the beginning of the year the sattle for better pay on the Malmo-Ystad road commenced, with some ar ticles in the local press, it caused actual sensation, when the public learned about the wage scale adopted as late as 1904. It was startled to learn that many R. R. workers received the measly yearly wage of 660 kr. out of which the receiver even had to purchase his own uniform. Only after 20 years steady service did a trainman in Malmo receive a wage of 90 kr. per month. Nevertheless the Malmo-Ystad road belonged to the class that paid the best. The condition on the less profitable roads were still worse,

The working hours on the R. R. long beyond reason. In the regulation laws it commonly states that the emploves are duty-bound to serve when and wherever they are demanded. Anything called overtime the R. R. management has never allowed to be mentioned. The regular working time has as a rule never been less than 12 hours and, in the ummer time, often as high as 14 to 16. As an illustration of what a R. R. emplove may have to out up with, may be mentioned the work of the watchmen on a southern road. During the summer they were ordered to partake in secwork. Their working day then looks thus: First inspecting the line about 16 a mile (one Swedish mile is about 7 English miles long-Trans). Then a ride on his handcart to the working place, which often is 16 to 20 km away, there he must work from 6 a. m. till 6 orty-eight had a partial, and twelve no p. m., then he pulled home on his car, and again had to inspect the line, and at last each in his place had to flag the night trains which passed, some as late Van Kel, Socialist member of Parlia- as II p. m. The hours, with only a next has recently brought before that break for meals, lasted from 4 a. m. to 11

Under such working hours a ma must eventually break down. The R. & system even when the hours are normal craves many victims. The long hours increase the accidents enormously. That watchmen are so frequently run over and killed is caused exactly by the conspicuous over working of these men, whose condition is about the worst on the roads. By the criminal arrangements of some of the yards there are also actual death traps laid for the switchmen. The workers risk on the R. R.'s is immense.

The low pay, the long hours and the continual risk of life and limb have caused great oppression and a rising discontent The standard of living of the less paid workers is, on some roads, scarcely above that of the farmhands. Yet the R. R.'s are getting their recruits from elements that have created wants of a higher na-

Lastly must not be forgotten the discontent created by the existing caste system. The R. R. workers are divided into two main groups—salaried officers and mere wage slaves-the castes of the vellow and the white buttons. Between these two there exists an impassible chasm. An officer and a workman must not ride in the same class car on the train. The gray-headed veteran with white cords on his coat must stand humbly in military position and salute any menced his career on the roads, exactly strong castes-between the corded and the uncorded suits, between a conductor and a baggageman, between the superintendent of the roadbed and a watch

A number of the local officers mis take pitiably their officership and pry into the private business of those under them. Backbiting, two-facedness, submissiveness, spying and, in general, a poor comradeship are evils which have flourished on many roads and at the stations. Even among the poorest paid there have existed elements that have stopped at nothing in order to swing themselves a few steps up the ladder on the should ers of their fellow workers. Above all has every pains been taken to keep organization with a socialistic coloring way from the R. R. workers.

However, it has happened among the R. R. workers, as among all other oppressed people: when the pressure from above became too strong a reaction set in from below. The organization spirit has been born and has grown strong and healthy. At first the organization of the R. I workers was a slow process. The obstacles were numerous. Hard work and ow pay create sluggishness and lack of spirit. And then there was the caste difference! It was of course not to be expected that the different grades of wage slaves should become comrades of could the yellow and the white buttons meet under the same roof. Consequent ly were the first organizations naturally enough CRAFT ORGANIZATIONSone for baggagemen, one for watchmer one for conductors, etc., etc., the whole scale up. Different organizations also existed for the state and private roads. This system of craft organization might in its time have had its mission. For example, it was easier to get an engineer to belong to an engineers' union than to a union where perhaps freight handlers and watchmen were in the majority. A caste system creates suspicion. But if a person once for all belongs to an organization he will soon foster the true organization-solidarity. And this soon shatters all old superstitions. The craft organizations moreover did not scare tway these crude, and with socialism totally unacquainted, elements. They also often held together for self-protection by adopting sick and death benefit

But on the other hand it was self-evident that the craft organizations were powerless in a real battle for wages Each organization had its petty interests to guard and thus might one, in another's efforts, think its own interests owered. Unity of action, a principle absolutely vital for victory, was an impossibility among these petty and jealous unions. We have it from a reliable source that one of these petty unionswage slaves of a somewhat high gradecarried on an agitation in the Risktag of 1905 against Oscar Berg's motion to raise the pay of all the lower paid workers $120 kr. per year. The reason for this action was that if this raise was granted the best paid in the lower grades of workers would receive as much wages as some in the higher grades and that these could never tolerate,

The utter helplessness of the craft organiztaions appeared, however, the most glaringly in the petition which they handed the government last year. In Trans.) order not to mar the semblance of unity they had not been able to state neither what raise they desired nor which wage classes ought to receive it. They only asked in a general way for something better. The consequences came home to the employes by the management's motion. It offered a little raise for Stockholm and surroundings for one of the higher wage classes. So little probably no one had expected, yet the management had granted the petition!

As fighting organizations the craft organizations were simply useless. The realization of this made rapid decreases in the ranks of the once flourishing

It was then that the necessity for and the power of the Industrial form of organization commenced to be understood. The United Swedish R. R. Workers Organization had in the first place the shop employes and the sectionmen to thank for its inauguration. During the year it had gained a respectable wage increase for its members on the Stockholm-Rumbo road; and on the Upsala-Gavle road it had come out victorious for the right to organize. When therefore the old organizations were proven helpless, the new one grew apace.

The great stream from the craft organizations to the industrial was not only caused by the former's helplessness but also by the difference in tactics. The

R. Workers on the other hand stand on the principle that the seller of labor power must oppose his power to that of the buyer. Thus the workers' will also plays a part in a wage agreement. With a thorough organization they mean to carry through their demands by ceasing to work. It is consequently modern organization that not only counts on the master's "good will," but moreover on the power which lies in united organization.

The knowledge of this was perceived the quickest in the less paid ranks. Among the state employes the petition methods received its death blow with the Riksdag's decision on the wage question this year. Although in the proposition regarding the state employes the government had asked a grant only of the R. R. workers' measly petition, even this modest request was denied and much less could there be any question of granting Osear Berg's or the Social Democrats more favorable motions. About the same time did the begging system receive its death blow on the private roads. It was on the Malmo-Ystad road, the road owned by the lords of Skone (the most southern province of Sweden.-Trans.), where the signal was given for new war methods. On this road they had, at different times the various groups, and again, the whole of the employes, petitioned for better wages. In 1004 the management revised the scale so that some groups received the munificent raise of from 1.25 to 1.37 kr per month. But at the last the omnipotent president simply let the petitions land in the waste basket. This was the drop that made the ember of discontent flare up. In a few months, one local of the same organization and much less U. R. R. workers embraced all the actual wage workers on this road, with only a couple of exceptions. Shortly thereuson broke out Sweden's first, and up to this time, only railroad strike.

(Here follows a detailed description of this strike, which, however, may not be of sufficient interest to the workers of this country to warrant the use of the space it would take. Suffice it to say that the government finally stepped in and arbitrated the question. Hence they did not gain all they asked and, as is always the case, when wage questions are arbitrated, some loopholes were left for the capitalists. The workers recognized this, yet they choose arbitration rather than expose their young organization to too great risks. On an average the wage increase was 300 kr. per man, a year, This arbitration decision has since been the basis of new wage scales on many roads, so that through the moral victory of this one strike, general improvement has been affected without strike and the R .R workers have a chance to perfect their organization.-Trans.)

In conclusion we must not neglect to mention the solidarity which this year's happenings have produced between the R. R. workers and the rest of the proletariat. It would be wrong to hide the fact that the U. R. R. workers' organization is permeated with Socialism. Many R. R. men belong to our Communes. Many more would do so if most locals did not extend over a long stretch of road and cannot therefore for practical reasons, as a whole, belong to one com

In the conflicts, real or threatened, of the R. R. workers this year, the industrial proletarians have stood solidly on the side of their fighting comrades and there has been more than empty phrases behind these declarations of solidarity

Another paramount question now is that of the U. R. R. workers becoming part of the "Lands Organizationen." (The United political and economic Socialist labor organization of the country.-

The Post Office workers at their last convention decided to consider the question of a State Employe's Federation as a sort of a bridge to the "Landa Organization." This might possibly be a useful method. But the evolution points directly to the great "Lands Organiza-

The year 1906 will unquestionably stand forth as a remarkable year for more than one reason. By the great general increase in organized workers through the organization of the R. R. workers the possibilities have increased for an early victorious battle for a better economic and political system.

Mistory of a Proletarian ... family ... Across the Ages

By Eugene Suc. Translated by Daniel De Leon.

In order to understand our own time it is absolutely necessary that we know semething of the times that have gone before. The generations are like links in a chain, all connected. The study, by which we can learn what has been done and thought before us, is history, and this is perhaps the most fascinating of all studies. Many historians fill their books with nothing but battles and the doings of "great" men, but happily this style of writing history is becoming obsolete, and the history of the people is taking its place. Socialism is more concerned with the hartery of the people than with the doings of kings and queens; and with a knowledge of the history of the people we can better understand how the great men schieved prominence. Epgene Sue has given us in the form of fiction the best universal history extent. It is a monumental work entitled "The Mysteries of the People," or "History of a Proletarian Pathily Across the Ages." Four of the stories of this series are now ready for delivery. They
